"Another show? Another project? So where are we going to start, which way to go... and what for?

In our daily lives we are constantly making decisions, like many others who as creators present their ideas to the audience. We never know if these ideas are going to work; we know we are honest and sincere, but that is not enough.

Now we want to start from the end: Seguramente haremos lo incorrecto [We will probably do it wrong] but on stage we will show what we believe, and that is well worth the effort. (...) You can buy things that have a price, but you must conquer things of value". Fernando Hurtado
