"Not even the most powerful are completely safe. There are moments in life that determine one's future, and a bad choice or twist of fate can change everything and push us towards a life in which something as basic as a bed becomes a chimera. Solitude becomes a double-edged sword, and the need for someone with whom to share things comes face to face with the mistrust, fraud and fear of those who surround you.

In the purest Shakespeare style, we will try to come nearer to the lives of these "homeless" people through the eyes of their very own protagonists." Pablo Bujalance Zira Williams Producciones was founded in 2019 with Manto, its first work. Since then, the company has been immersed in several productions, both in the realm of theatre and of audiovisual work. It returns to the stage with Yo, lady Macbeth, an original play written for the company by the playwright from Malaga Pablo Bujalance.
